Council. Taking into consideration all the views, the views of the two Houses and of the officers, wherever it is necessary for us to improve upon our resources and also to cut down expenditure, we will take action. So the suggestion which has been made by Sir Patil is welcome. We are going to act on it. The hon'ble member is suggesting a committee. I suggest that the whole question will be discussed in this House and the views of the hon'ble members will be taken into consideration. After that if we feel that it is necessary to have a committee, that also will be taken into consideration. We are here for economy and in removing all unnecessary expenditure.

Then another point raised was how Government could effect savings to pay off debts. From the budget memorandum it will be seen that our total public debt is estimated to stand at Rs. 198.86 crores at the end of 1962-63. As against this we have also built up assets aggregating to Rs. 230.70 crores. These assets take time to yield sufficient returns. If we take up a project like the Tungabhadra or the Ghataprabha or Malaprabha it is not possible for us to get returns immediately. It will take about 10 to 20 years to make full use of the water of any project and for the scheme to yield returns. In all such big projects it is very difficult for us to get returns immediately. Ultimately we have to request the Government of India to liberalise the terms and conditions of repayment. This point has already been dealt with in the Chief Ministers' meetings in March 1962. It will not be possible to effect large savings to pay the debts. So we have to request the Government of India to liberalise the terms of repayment of the debts taken from them.

I have tried to explain most of the points raised in the debate. I hope the House will pass the Bill.
